Understanding Frontier Airlines' Missed Flight Policy

Frontier Airlines defines a missed flight as a situation where a passenger does not board their flight at the scheduled departure time. Several factors can contribute:

- Arriving late at the airport
- Delays during check-in or security checks
- Heavy traffic or unexpected events en route to the airport
- Gate closure before boarding

Frontier labels passengers who do not arrive on time as no-shows, and these passengers may face fees or ticket cancellations.

What Happens Immediately After Missing a Flight

Missing a flight on Frontier Airlines triggers several consequences:

- 1. Cancellation of Remaining Itinerary:
 - If you miss your flight, Frontier may cancel any connecting or return flights.
- 2. Rebooking Fees:
 - You may need to pay a fee to rebook your flight.
- 3. Fare Difference:
 - If the new flight costs more than your original ticket, you must pay the fare difference.
- 4. Seat Availability:
 - Your previously reserved seat is not guaranteed on the new flight.
- 5. Loss of Ticket Value:
 - Frontier tickets are generally non-refundable, so missing a flight can mean losing the value of your ticket unless you rebook.

Calling 📞+ 1-877-622-0707 immediately after realizing you'll miss your flight can help mitigate some of these consequences.

Your Options After Missing a Frontier Flight

Even if you miss your flight, you still have options:

1. Rebooking on the Same Day

- Frontier may allow you to catch the next available flight on the same day.
- Expect to pay rebooking fees and any fare difference.

2. Standby Flights

- You can request standby status, which allows you to take the next available flight if seats are open.
- Standby is not guaranteed, so prompt communication is essential.

3. Contact Customer Support
